

UNIVERSITY OF DENVER
GRADUATE SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

FACULTY POSITIONS
Assistant Professor, Tenure-Track

Applications are invited for two tenure track faculty positions at the assistant professor rank for Fall 2019. The Graduate School of Social Work (GSSW) at the University of Denver (DU) seeks faculty members with a commitment to excellence in impactful research, teaching, and community engagement to join our school. Applicants across a range of expertise are invited to apply.

GSSW is a collegial and progressive community of scholars who conduct a range of research with diverse populations across the life cycle and who are committed to excellence in teaching. The School's curriculum, research, and community partnerships emphasize social justice, along with an understanding of and respect for social and cultural diversity and social work values and ethics. GSSW provides a supportive environment that fosters interdisciplinary and community-based research. Cross-disciplinary opportunities abound as evidenced by the University's Impact 2025 strategic plan.

The faculty at GSSW engages in major collaborative projects locally, nationally, and internationally. In addition, the Denver metropolitan area and state of Colorado offer excellent opportunities for research addressing a variety of populations. GSSW and the University of Denver are committed to enhancing the diversity of faculty and staff. As such, we especially encourage people from historically underrepresented populations to apply. For more information about GSSW and DU, please visit www.du.edu/socialwork; the University's diversity statement can be found at www.du.edu/chancellor/vision/diversitystatement.html.

Candidates must have an earned doctorate in social work or a related social science discipline by September 1, 2019; a developing agenda of publication, research, and extramural funding; and potential for excellence in teaching across the MSW curriculum. An MSW and two or more years of post-MSW practice experience are preferred.

Applicants should submit their curriculum vita, a letter that illustrates their interests and expertise in teaching and research, and two samples of written/published material in which the candidate contributed substantially to the writing and conceptualization of the manuscript. GSSW is committed to building a culturally diverse and inclusive educational environment. Applicants are requested to include in their cover letter information about how they will further this goal. All materials must be submitted to the University's online application system at: <https://dujobs.silkroad.com/> or go directly to GSSW Asst. Prof.

In addition, three letters of reference and teaching evaluations (if available) should be sent directly to:

Amanda Moore McBride, PhD
Morris Endowed Dean and Professor
Graduate School of Social Work, University of Denver
Craig Hall 306, 2148 S. High Street
Denver, CO 80208-7100
gsswdean@du.edu

Confidential inquiries may be directed to the search committee chair, Professor Eugene Walls, at eugene.walls@du.edu. Applications can only be accepted through the University's online application system at the University of Denver website <https://dujobs.silkroad.com/>.

Applications will be reviewed beginning September 12, 2018, and early application is advised. Position responsibilities will begin September 1, 2019.

The University of Denver is committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff and encourages applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, members of the LGBTQ community, people with disabilities and veterans. The University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.